Cologne hit rock bottom after defeat to Union, Paderborn win

Janning took the big decision to appoint Timm Wiese as his assistant after the 0-0 draw against Paderborn at the Weekend.

The 31-year-old former midfielder, who had an apprenticeship as a refrigeration and air conditioning technician, has been on the coaching staff since the start of the season and was credited with helping improve the mentality of the team.

But his side had to settle for a point after a goalless draw against the Billy Goats on goal difference after Sven Michel's 90th-minute equaliser.

But the likes of Timor-Leste's avoided the second qualifying round, as the most popular sport in the world looks set to live up to the hype.

The Peruvian did set another record by scoring his 50th Italian league goal to lift Brescia of the bottom after defeat to Werder Bremen.

But Fiorentina fell to their fourth straight victory at Union Berlin was called off at the 80th minute as a 3-0 victory at Werder Bremen. Between the second and third rounds of qualifying, the 16 remaining nations from outside Asia will compete against the 10 candidates for the Asian slot.

The Mavericks’ 46-point margin of victory was their second-largest of the season. They crushed Golden State by 48 in November.

Said coach Rick Carlisle: “That was the goal. But we’ve just got to keep our eye on the ball.”

Australians online gambling losses rise

The number of Australians online gambling losses rose 24% last year according to a new report.

The report found that Australians lost $15.8 billion online in 2019, up from $12.7 billion in 2018.

The report also found that the average loss per gambler was $2,791, up from $2,369 in 2018.

The increase in losses is despite a fall in the number of people gambling online, down from 7.1 million in 2018 to 6.6 million in 2019.

“This year’s report shows that the growth in losses is occurring as a result of a rise in the average amount gambled by those who do gamble,” said report co-author Dr. Anthony Ekert.

Ekert said the findings highlight the need for more targeted interventions to help people who may be at risk of gambling problems.

Lions fined $110K for mishandling Stafford injury status

Bears at Lions - Matt Patricia fined $10,000 for Snell injury designation

The NFL has fined Detroit Lions head coach Matt Patricia $10,000 for his handling of running back D'Andre Snell’s injury designation.

The Lions had Snell listed as questionable for Sunday’s game against the Bears, but Patricia failed to designate Snell as out of the game due to an injury.

The NFL made its policy during the week leading up to the game, with owners and coaches saying they would rather get the injury designation right than risk getting fined for not providing a clear indication of a player’s status.

In this case, the NFL fined Patricia for not designating Snell as out of the game before Sunday’s game.

The Lions also had wide receiver Kenny Golladay listed as questionable for the game, but they designated him as out due to injury during the week.

The Lions/Nowhere - Lions fined $110K for mishandling Stafford injury status

The NFL has fined the Detroit Lions $110,000 for mishandling the injury status of quarterback Matthew Stafford.

Stafford was listed as questionable for Sunday’s game against the Rams, but he was ruled out before the game.

The NFL fined the Lions $110,000 for not properly communicating Stafford’s injury status to the league.

The NFL has been cracking down on teams that mishandle injury designations, and the Lions were fined for not properly communicating Stafford’s injury status to the league.
