Qatar ready to face Panama in their Gold Cup debut

‘Gold Cup will see us play against teams with different playing styles to our own – it will be a very valuable experience’

With only 15 months to go until Qatar hosts the FIFA World Cup, the national team is fully fit for the tournament. This month Qatar will take part in the CONCACAF Gold Cup for the first time – the shortest stop on its learning curve ahead of next year’s showpiece.

Guided by Spanish coach Felix Sanchez, the Maroons have come a long way in their World Cup qualifying campaign as a continental champion after lifting the Asian Champions Cup for the first time in 2019.

Since then, Qatar have soaked up a stack of international experience. The team competed in the 2019 Copa America in South America and claimed a huge number of gold medals on GCC level.

Qatar were invited to take part in the CONCACAF Gold Cup, which began in the United States on July 17th before concluding the group stage on July 25th. Qatar squad had a three-week training camp in Croatia before their debut in CONCACAF.

Sanchez’ team then played against eventual champions Croatia.

The Qatar beach volleyball team comprising Cherif Younousse and Ahmed Tijan qualified for the 2020 Tokyo Olympics.

Speaking during a training camp at Aspire Zone, coach Sanchez and defender Abdullkarim Hassan discussed the tournament while looking ahead to Qatar 2022.

The greatest? Djoko has time, momentum on his side

The ‘guy for now’ at the moment is Nadal, at least for another year. Djokovic is getting into this whole new era of tennis. He is going to win this year, if he wants to. If he wins, then he’s on his way to winning more and more, until he’s on top of the world. He’s got the opportunity, and he’s got the chance to be the greatest player of all time.

The Italian Olympic Team athletes gear up for Tokyo Games

In Italy, fans spilled on to the streets from Milan to Palermo to celebrate their side’s triumph on Sunday, putting aside thoughts of the problems Rome faced during the pandemic, continuing double success to crown the country. In Rome, journalist Marco Fulco wrote for many weeks that he had observed how even in the face of difficulties, the country had been able to rise to the occasion in a common effort. In Florence, the president of the provincial council, Luigi Di Maio, said that the victory “is the most beautiful thing we could see.”

The Italian Olympic team is currently preparing for the Olympics in Tokyo, where they will compete in a number of sports, including gymnastics, cycling, judo, karate, and shooting. The team is expected to achieve good results in these sports, and their performance will be closely watched by sports fans around the world.

Victorious Italy return to heroes’ welcome after England glory

The Italian team returned to Rome on Thursday after their historic win over England in the Euro 2020 final at Wembley. The team was greeted by thousands of fans who flooded the streets of the capital to welcome them home.

The victory in the Euro 2020 final was a historic moment for Italy, who had not won a major tournament since the 1982 World Cup. The team had been unbeaten in 37 consecutive games before their win over England, and they were cheered on by a packed crowd at Wembley.

Italian Prime Minister Mario Draghi sent a message congratulating the team on their victory, saying: “This is a moment of great joy and pride for all of us. It’s a moment that will be remembered for a long time.”

The team’s success has been celebrated across the country, with fans and the government alike crediting the team’s success to their hard work and commitment to the sport. The victory has also been seen as a symbol of unity and national pride.

The Italian Olympic team will now turn their attention to the Tokyo Olympics, where they will be hoping for further success. The team has been preparing for this event for many months, and they are expected to perform well in a number of sports, including gymnastics, cycling, judo, karate, and shooting.

The Italian Olympic team’s return to Rome was a moment of tremendous joy and celebration for the country, with fans and athletes alike sharing in the excitement of their success.
